We hereby certify that

Ms Bea Teresa Sengco

completed the online course

Towards Decent Work in Global Supply Chains on 15 February 2025.

This multi-disciplinary online course is intended to develop the users' knowledge and analytical skills on labour in global supply chains. The course analyses some of the main labour issues in the supply chains and the related gaps in the regulatory framework. It also discusses some of the most recent regulatory measures and trade union strategies at various levels to address the existing gaps and achieve work with dignity. The course provides possibilities to network with thousands of trade unionists and labour activists from around the world. The course is led by Prof Mark Anner who is a leading researcher on labour conditions in the global garment industry.
